1. Purpose

The foremost intention of this document is to provide a clear statement of DPL Volleyball rules that will assist players and coaches in obtaining the greatest amount of enjoyment from playing volleyball with the least amount of dispute over controversial situations that inevitably arise. A secondary objective is to ensure that games and tournaments conform to generally accepted practices of volleyball associations at large so that DPL can maintain a reputation for excellence in the sport.

2. Overview

This manual has three major sections:

1. Summary of Common Rules
2. DPL Adaptations of NFHS Rules
3. Appendix contains regular and post season schedules

Section 3 attempts to identify the most common rules that volleyball players need to know when playing in the Dallas Parochial League. Most players do not need to purchase and study the books of technically precise rules of the official governing bodies of volleyball to fully participate in the sport. By familiarizing themselves with this section, players and parents will be able to understand what is expected both on and off of the court. Coaches and officials will be responsible for identifying and explaining to players situations where more technical rules apply.

DPL uses regulations published by two governing bodies (UIL and NFHS) as the basis for our league's volleyball rules. Section 4 identifies specific NFHS rules that DPL Volleyball has adapted NFHS rules for our league. All DPL rules supersede UIL and NFHS rules in areas where they do not match.

UIL – The University Interscholastic League (UIL) publishes a Volleyball Manual every two years “to acquaint coaches and administrators with policies, rules, procedures and forms necessary for proper enforcement of regulations for volleyball”. In other words, how to set up and operate volleyball games and tournaments that will comply NFHS volleyball rules and school administrative mandates. A copy of the UIL Volleyball manual is available on-line from The University of Texas at www.utexas.edu/admin/uil/ath/manuals/volley/manual.html.

The UIL rules are a very comprehensive set of regulations that cover Texas public school volleyball programs. They establish a level playing field with distinct boundaries that apply to schools of all sizes. Every person involved in administering DPL volleyball should be aware UIL rules so that our program meets or exceeds the standard for excellence and fair play that UIL participating schools maintain. However, because UIL rules target public schools, not all of their guidelines are applicable to schools in the Catholic Diocese of Dallas. For example, eligibility, season start/end dates, holidays, usage of gym facilities and whether coaches must be full-time paid employees of the school district are areas reserved for the Diocese school administration.

NFHS – The National Federal of State High School Associations (NFHS) publishes annual updates to its Volleyball Rules Book. This rule book is “intended to promote and preserve the sound traditions of the sport and the safety of participants.” It covers such things as rules of the game, penalties for rule infractions, and roles of officials, how officials are to make decisions, and how participants are to communicate with each other.

Coaches, especially varsity coaches, should have a current copy of the NFHS Volleyball Rule and be familiar with its contents. Coaches should teach these rules (as they are used by DPL) to players just as they teach fundamental volleyball skills.

- c) A team shall not have more than three hits, or two consecutive hits by the same person, before the ball crosses the net with the following caveats:

Simultaneous contact on the same team – When two players on the same team simultaneously contact the ball, the contact is counted as just one hit and any player, including the two who just touched it, may play the ball.

Simultaneous contact by players on opposing teams – When two players on opposing teams contact the ball above the net at the same time and the ball falls onto one side, the player on that side may make the next hit. Whether the player involved in the simultaneous hit or another player makes the next hit, it is counted as the first hit for the team.

Multiple contacts for one attempt – When a player receives a hard-driven ball from an attacker (either a block or saving a spike) and the ball rebounds from one part of a player's body to ricochet off of another legal part of the player's body, the ball is still in play and the attempt is counted as a single hit. This does not apply if the ball is not hard-driven and the player simply mishandles the ball.

Blocks – Blocks are not counted as hits. When a player blocks the ball, either she or any other player on her team may hit the ball next and that hit will be the first one for the team.
